*The performance quoted represents past performance. The investment return and principal value will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than original cost. Past performance does not guarantee future results. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data quoted. For performance information current to the most recent month end, please call 1-877-778-2100 or visit our website at www.prudential.com. ## Disclosures

2. With the exception of Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2065 Fund, the Funds commenced operations on June 30, 2009, which is the date that (1) the Funds began operations in accordance with the allocations dictated by the Funds' Glidepath, and (2) PRIAC began calculating daily unit values for the Funds. With respect to the Day One IncomeFlex Target 2065 Fund, the Fund was opened to new investment on December 16, 2019 and commenced operations on January 3, 2020.

Although the Funds commenced operations on June 30, 2009, the Funds did not receive initial funding from investor plans until the applicable Funding Dates: for the Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2015 Fund: Dec. 10, 2010; for the Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2010 Fund, Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2035 Fund, Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2040 Fund, Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2045 Fund and the Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2050 Fund: Dec. 21, 2010; for the Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2020 Fund, Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2025 Fund, and Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2030 Fund: Jul. 19, 2010; for the Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2060 Fund: Jan. 7, 2011; Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2055 Fund: Jan. 11, 2011; Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target Balance Fund: Sept. 22, 2009; and for the Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2065 Fund: Jan 3, 2020. Prior to the applicable Funding Date, PRIAC calculated daily unit values based on the performance of the Underlying Funds in the fund-of-funds structure, weighted in accordance with the asset allocation of each Underlying Fund as specified by the Fund's Glidepath.

The current rebalancing frequency is a combination of monthly and tolerance-based rebalancing ("Monthly/Tolerance Based Rebalancing"). At every month end, each Fund will automatically rebalance to its target allocations (as then in effect) with respect to the underlying funds in which the Fund is invested (the "Underlying Funds," or each an "Underlying Fund"). In addition, each Fund will be evaluated daily with respect to its target allocations to the Underlying Funds. If market movements cause any Underlying Fund to deviate more than 5% relative to the target allocation to such Underlying Fund, there will be an automatic rebalancing of that Underlying Fund and any such other Underlying Funds as may be necessary to return all Underlying Funds to their respective target allocations as then in effect.

The performance track record reflects annual ratcheting along the Fund's Glidepath as well as daily rebalancing prior to January 2, 2015 and Monthly / Tolerance Based Rebalancing effective January 2, 2015. The performance track record for each Fund also reflects the applicable management fee listed above and the other expenses of the Fund actually incurred (which vary from year to year). Unlike the results shown in the performance record beginning with a Fund's Funding Date, performance prior to the Funding Date does not represent actual investment by the Fund in the Underlying Funds. If the Fund had actually invested in the Underlying Fund prior to the applicable Funding Date, it is possible that the performance of the Underlying Funds could have been different and the expenses of the Fund could have been different, each of which could have affected performance of the Fund.

Please note that the performance information reflects changes made to the Underlying Funds as of the date the Funds made the change. The following changes are reflected in the performance track record of each Fund (as applicable): • On September 22, 2010, the QMA Small Cap Blend Enhanced Index Fund sleeve was replaced with the Jennison Small Cap Core Equity Fund. • On December 7, 2011, the Bache Commodities Total Return Fund sleeve was replaced with the Jefferies Commodity Strategies Fund. Subsequently on April 16, 2012, the Jefferies Commodity Strategies Fund changed its name to the CoreCommodity Strategies Fund. • On January 4, 2016, the Prudential Total Return Bond Fund was added as a new Underlying Fund. • On March 29, 2018 QMA replaced CoreCommodity Management, LLC as the investment manager of the corresponding Underlying Fund which was renamed as QMA Commodity Strategy Fund.

All investing involves risk and there is no guarantee the Fund's objective will be achieved. An investment in a fund of funds is subject to the risks of the investments of each underlying fund, which include: With respect to investment in equities, stock prices are more volatile than bond prices over the long term, and the value of such investment will fluctuate with changes in market conditions. Small- and mid-cap investments may be more volatile than large-cap investments, and investments in non-U.S. markets may be more volatile than domestic investments due to currency fluctuation and political uncertainty. Investments in emerging markets are subject to greater volatility and price declines. Fixed-income investments may fluctuate based on interest rate changes and are subject to the risk that the company may not be able to make timely payments of principal and interest.

Some mutual funds and bank collective trusts, or their affiliates, compensate Prudential for selling their shares and servicing your retirement plan, as detailed in the Fact Sheet for that investment option. For other investment options, the charges reflected in the Expense Ratio are typically deducted by Prudential in return for investment and record-keeping services, and product distribution. For some plans, the charges also enable Prudential to satisfy the plan's request for allowances to defray plan expenses. Your retirement plan may not include investment options with lower fee structures or lower cost share classes in order to compensate Prudential, in the aggregate, for servicing your retirement plan.

Pricing for the plan sometimes includes contract charges. If included, the contract charges would reduce the performance shown. Contract charges are disclosed to the plan. Regarding plan participants, the expense ratio shown in their statements and in the performance shown on their statements will reflect any contract charges imposed. The management fees, fund fees and contract charges compensate Prudential Retirement for the distribution and servicing associated with the plan. Other plan investment options may generate more or less revenue for Prudential Retirement than the fees associated with the fund the plan selects. If the aggregate revenue from the plan exceeds Prudential Retirement's associated costs, Prudential Retirement earns a profit. Otherwise, Prudential Retirement incurs a loss. Other plans investing in the Fund may have lower fees, but these are not available to the plan in order to compensate Prudential Retirement for distribution and plan servicing.

In providing this information Prudential Retirement is not undertaking to provide impartial investment advice, or to give advice in a fiduciary capacity. Prudential Retirement may benefit from advisory and other fees paid to it or its affiliates for managing, selling, or settling of the Prudential mutual funds and other investment products or securities offered by Prudential Retirement or its affiliates. Investment vehicles sponsored or managed by a Prudential Retirement affiliate generate more revenue for the Prudential enterprise than non-proprietary investment vehicles. Prudential Retirement's sales personnel generally receive greater compensation if plan assets are invested in proprietary investment vehicles. Prudential Retirement may benefit directly from the difference between investment earnings of Prudential Retirement's stable value funds and the amount credited to deposits in those funds. Prudential Retirement may also benefit from broker-dealer or other entities' co-sponsorship of Prudential conferences.

Unregistered Insurance company separate accounts and collective investment trusts are investment vehicles available only to qualified retirement plans, such as 401(k) plans and government plans, and their participants. Unlike mutual funds and registered separate accounts, unregistered insurance company separate accounts and collective investment trusts are exempt from Securities and Exchange Commission registration under both the Securities Act of 1933 and the Investment Company Act of 1940, but are subject to oversight by state banking or insurance regulators, as applicable. Therefore, investors are generally not entitled to the protections of the federal securities laws. Also, unlike mutual funds and registered separate accounts, unregistered insurance company separate accounts and collective investment trusts are not offered by prospectus.

Investors should carefully consider a fund's investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses before investing. The prospectus and (if available) summary prospectus contain complete information about the investment options available through your plan. Please call 877-778-2100 for a free prospectus and (if available) a summary prospectus containing this and other information about our funds. You should read the prospectus and summary prospectus (if available) carefully before investing. For variable insurance products, please read and consider carefully both the contract and fund prospectuses, if applicable, carefully before investing. It is possible to lose money by investing in securities.

Percentile Rank - Prudential Retirement constructs Asset Class Categories using MPI Stylus, a product of Markov Processes International LLC, and data provided by Morningstar™, Inc. Categories are constructed by using the appropriate Morningstar™, Inc. category. Percentile Ranks are then calculated using MPI Stylus and therefore may differ from those provided directly by Morningstar™, Inc.

Pru Day One IncomeFlex Target Balanced Benchmark - The custom benchmark reflects the normal weighted average of the respective Day One Fund's stock/non-traditional assets/bond/cash allocation, as represented by the S&P 1500 Composite Index, the Russell Developed ex North America Large Cap Index, the MSCI Emerging Markets Net Dividend Index, the Bloomberg Commodities Index, the PRREF Composite Index, the Barclays U.S. Treasury Inflation-Protected Securities (TIPS) Index (Series-L), the Bloomberg Barclays US Aggregate Bond Index and the Citigroup Three Month T-Bill. Effective January 1, 2013, the International asset class is represented in the mandate benchmark by the Russell Developed ex North America Large Cap Index, replacing the MSCI EAFE Net Dividend Index. Because the asset allocation of each Fund changes over time, the custom benchmark allocations also change over time. Effective close of business December 31, 2018, Russell discontinued the Russell Developed Ex-North America Large Cap Net Index. Therefore, also effective on December 31, 2018, the FTSE Developed Markets Ex-North America Index (FTSE Index) replaced the Russell Developed Ex-North America Large Cap Net Index as the primary performance benchmark for the Day One Funds' underlying PGIM QMA International Developed Markets Index Fund and a component of the custom benchmark with respect to each Prudential Day One Fund. The FTSE Index performance will be reflected in the performance of the Day One Funds' custom benchmark index on a go-forward basis only; the custom benchmark's performance history will not be re-stated.

Risk - Also known as Standard deviation, Risk is a statistical measure of the degree of variability, or dispersion, of a portfolio's return around its average return over a specified time period. Investors can examine historical standard deviation in conjunction with historical returns in order to decide whether a portfolio's volatility would have been acceptable given the returns it produced. A higher standard deviation indicates a wider dispersion of past returns and thus greater risk. Standard deviation does not indicate how a portfolio actually performed, but merely the volatility of its returns over time around their mean.

Economic Review

Source: Robert DeLucia, Consulting Economist, Prudential Retirement

- The estimated annualized decline of 33% in real GDP was the largest contraction for any quarter since the 1930s. This compares with a decline of 8.5% in the fourth quarter of 2008, and the post-World War II record of 10% in the first quarter of 1958. The contraction in aggregate spending, output, and employment can be attributed to the COVID-19 pandemic, which prompted a lockdown of virtually all economies worldwide. The COVID-19 recession was the deepest but also the shortest recession since the Civil War, encompassing only two months.
- U.S. corporate earnings fell at an annual rate of 30% in the quarter, the worst quarterly decline since 2008. Nearly 40% of the companies in the S&P 500 have suspended quarterly guidance for investors. The capacity of analysts to forecast company revenues, selling prices, and operating costs is extremely limited.
- The recent unfavorable trends pertaining to new cases and accelerating transmission are worrisome, and in the worst case could undermine the economic recovery. At the end of June, daily infections had surged to more than 52,000 while hospitalizations rose sharply. The escalation of infections since mid-June has been concentrated in numerous states in the southern and western U.S.
- The offsetting good news has been the concrete progress in the development of an effective vaccine at an unprecedented pace and government data in May and June have been generally favorable. Although there is strong evidence that the recession ended in April, the speed of the recovery remains unclear. Monthly reports on retail sales, housing sales, factory orders, and employment for May and June have been encouraging, generally beating consensus economist estimates. These signs of strength can be attributed to the phased reopening of the economy beginning in early May.
- There can be little doubt regarding the resolve of the Federal Reserve. Additional fiscal support from Congress and the White House is also likely but far from certain. Governments outside the U.S. have responded to the crisis with breathtaking speed. The amounts of fiscal stimulus authorized by policymakers in Germany and Japan are triple those provided in response to the 2008 financial crisis. Monetary stimulus in Europe, China, and Japan has also been aggressive.

Financial Market Returns

This chart is for illustration purposes only and is not meant to represent the performance of any investment. Investors cannot invest directly in an index.

- Following one of the worst quarters in decades, financial markets rallied strongly in the second quarter, with the largest 50-day advance in global equity market history. U.S. equities led the way, benefiting from unprecedented monetary and fiscal stimulus and expectations for restarting the economy.
- The S&P 500 Index delivered its largest percentage gain since the fourth quarter of 1998, supported by record stimulus, favorable news regarding a vaccine and much improved economic data in May and June.
- Investment grade bonds, as measured by the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Aggregate Bond Index, gained 2.9% for the quarter, supported by strong returns from corporate bonds and the Federal Reserve's efforts to stabilize the credit markets. The Bloomberg Barclays Corporate High Yield Index was the best performing segment of the domestic fixed-income market, advancing nearly 10.2% for the quarter.

Domestic Equity Style Returns

This chart is for illustration purposes only and is not meant to represent the performance of any investment. Investors cannot invest directly in an index.

• Coming off an historic drawdown in the first quarter, domestic equities staged a remarkable recovery with all styles and market caps posting double digit returns, despite rising COVID-19 infections in June. Relative performance of growth over value has accelerated since the pandemic, driven by the top performing Information Technology sector.

• Small-cap stocks outperformed mid- and large-cap stocks for the quarter, benefitting from improved economic data and an optimistic outlook for a national recovery. Small-Cap Growth was the best performing segment as higher volatility (beta) stocks led the market higher.

S&P 500 Sector Performance

% S&P 500® Index	27.46	10.83	10.78	14.63	n/a	6.97	2.52	2.84	3.07	7.99	10.08	2.83

This chart is for illustration purposes only and is not meant to represent the performance of any investment. Investors cannot invest directly in an index.

- All sectors of the S&P 500 Index posted positive returns for the second quarter. Consumer Discretionary had its best quarterly gain on record and was the best performing sector benefiting from the economy reopening and increased retail spending. Specific leadership within the large-cap indices continued to be driven by the Information Technology sector, with Microsoft, Facebook, Amazon and Apple as top contributors for the quarter. Five mega-cap technology stocks which comprise nearly 25% of the S&P 500 Index and nearly 50% of NASDAQ were responsible for a staggering one-third of total index gains in the quarter.
- Energy rebounded as the price of crude oil rallied to $40 per barrel after falling below $0 for the first time ever in late April. Demand for oil increased as major economies eased lockdown restrictions and production cuts from OPEC.
- Defensive sectors, such as Utilities and Consumer Staples, were among the weakest performers in the quarter. This comes as a reversal from the first quarter as investors gravitated towards economically sensitive areas of the market amid improvement in risk sentiment until mid-June.

International Index Returns

% MSCI EAFE™ Index(net)	25.41	47.37	n/a	100.00	11.21	14.48

This chart is for illustration purposes only and is not meant to represent the performance of any investment. Investors cannot invest directly in an index.

- International equities mirrored the rally in U.S. equities with the MSCI EAFE Index advancing double digits on positive news of flattening curves, potential vaccines and reopening economies. Emerging market equities generated their strongest quarterly return in over a decade helped by a weaker U.S. dollar.
- Japanese equities were among the top relative performers supported by an improved global environment and additional stimulus measures by the Bank of Japan. Japan continues to be on a different trajectory relative to other developed nations with a slower spread of the coronavirus.
- European equities performed well as lockdown restrictions were eased. News regarding additional support from the European Union for a post-COVID-19 recovery fund also contributed. United Kingdom equities rebounded from last quarter's lows as economic indicators suggested the downturn is past its worst point and the Bank of England (BoE) expanded its quantitative easing program.

Fixed Income Returns

% Bloomberg Barclays	39.74	100.00	n/a	3.47	27.39	26.83	2.57	n/a

This chart is for illustration purposes only and is not meant to represent the performance of any investment. Investors cannot invest directly in an index.

- All major fixed income segments posted gains for the quarter with the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Credit Index the best performing component of the Aggregate Index. Investment grade corporate issues recovered as spreads tightened dramatically from their March highs while the Federal Reserve (Fed) expanded its stimulus program by continuing to buy individual corporate credit through its Secondary Market Corporate Credit Facility.
- The Bloomberg Barclays Corporate High Yield Index had its best quarterly performance since 2009 and outpaced all other sectors due to investors' increased appetite for risk assets and yield, driving prices higher. The Fed expanded its corporate credit facilities to allow for the purchase of High Yield ETFs and recent fallen angels, providing liquidity to help stabilize the market and setting off an incredible pace of new high yield issues.
- The Bloomberg Barclays Treasury Bond Index registered a positive return for the quarter, but was the weakest performing component of the domestic fixed income market as investors rotated out of higher quality issues and into riskier credit assets.

U.S. Treasury Yield Curve

This chart is for illustration purposes only and is not meant to represent the performance of any investment. Investors cannot invest directly in an index.

- The Federal Reserve responded to the coronavirus crisis with unprecedented speed and force, successfully restoring the functioning of the financial system, assuring credit availability for businesses and households. Fed Chairman Jerome Powell has made it clear that policy will continue to support the economy and financial system with whatever tools necessary.
- After plunging during the first quarter, Treasury yields rose slightly on the long and short end of the yield curve as investor demand for safe-haven assets diminished. The 30-year Treasury yield rose 6 basis points to 1.41% while the three-month rose from near zero to 0.16%.
- The 10-year Treasury yield remained in a narrow range and finished four basis point lower to end the second quarter at 0.66%. It sold off in early June following a stronger-than-expected jobs report, before reversing later in the month as COVID-19 infections began to spike.

Economic & Market Outlook

- Following its record decline in the second quarter, real GDP should rebound strongly in the third quarter and somewhat less so in the fourth quarter. The sharp pullback in household spending has resulted in considerable deferred demand, which could be unleashed in coming months should employment, incomes, and confidence improve. Real GDP could decline by 5% for all of 2020, followed by rebounds of 4% to 5% in both 2021 and 2022. The absolute level of real GDP is not likely to return to its 2019 all-time peak of $19.22 trillion until the second half of 2022.
- The pace of COVID-19 medical research and development is unprecedented. There are numerous vaccines in advanced clinical trials, and one or more could be approved by year end, with inoculations on a mass scale beginning early next year. Availability of one or more coronavirus therapeutics would increase private sector confidence and result in a faster pace of economic recovery. Until the arrival of inventive medications, the U.S. economy will likely continue to operate well below full employment, with only moderate growth in spending and output.
- While the rate of economic growth is highly uncertain, a steadily expanding economy should be accompanied by a rising trend in company earnings and dividends. Corporate earnings could decline by 30% for all of 2020, but should rebound in both the third quarter and fourth quarter, with 25% full-year earnings growth in 2021 and another 20% in 2022.
- Despite these positives, the sudden and severe reversal in COVID-19 trends since the middle of June is transforming the outlook for economic growth. With a continuation of the current surge in infections in coming weeks and months, data for retail sales, industrial production, factory orders, and employment could weaken once again. The outlook for the economy has suddenly darkened, with increased risk of a major slowdown or possible double-dip recession later this year, as surging infections trigger a pullback in consumer spending and business expansion plans.
- The equity market could remain under pressure until current adverse public health trends are reversed, evident in a sustained decline in the numbers of new cases and hospitalizations. The implication is that the equity market may be in a prolonged consolidation phase, which would become evident in a sideways pattern for stock prices, or possibly an interim correction of 5% to 10%. Defensive assets are likely to continue to outperform risk assets, and growth stocks should continue to outperform value stocks. Looking beyond the daunting public health challenges in the short term, the outlook for common stock investing appears favorable while the outlook for the fixed-income market is unfavorable.

Allocation - Target-Date Retirement Income (With Income Guarantee)
Keep in mind that application of asset allocation and diversification concepts does not assure a profit or protect against loss in a declining market. It is possible to lose money by investing in securities.
For Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target, the target-date is the approximate year when investors plan to retire and may begin withdrawing their money. The asset allocation of the target-date funds will become more conservative until the date which is ten years prior to the target-date by lessening the equity exposure and increasing the exposure in fixed income investments. The principal value of an investment in a target-date fund is not guaranteed at any time, including the target-date. There is no guarantee that the fund will provide adequate retirement income. A target-date fund should not be selected solely based on age or retirement date. Before investing, participants should carefully consider the fund's investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses, as well as their age, anticipated retirement date, risk tolerance, other investments owned, and planned withdrawals. The stated asset allocation may be subject to change. It is possible to lose money in a target-date fund, including losses near and following retirement. These risks may be increased to the extent investors begin to make withdrawals from the fund significantly before the target date. Investments in the Funds are not deposits or obligations of any bank and are not insured or guaranteed by any governmental agency or instrumentality. For investors close to or in retirement, the fund's equity exposure may result in investment volatility that could reduce an investor's available retirement assets when they are needed. For investors farther from retirement, there is risk that a fund may invest too much in investments designed to ensure capital conservation and/or current income, which may prevent the investor from meeting his or her retirement goals.

Investment Options Review

Prudential Retirement constructs Asset Class Categories using MPI Stylus, a product of Markov Processes International LLC, and data provided by Morningstar™, Inc. Prudential Retirement, Morningstar and Markov Processes International are not affiliated entities.

Within MPI Stylus, Asset Class Categories are constructed based on the category provided in the Morningstar open-end universe. Total Return Performance of each of the funds on our platform is then compared against the appropriate Asset Class Category to generate the percentile ranking within each time period. All total return performance is net of all management and investment expenses only. Unless specifically requested by a plan sponsor, contract charges are not included. If included, contract charges would lower the performance and therefore change the fund's percentile rankings. Fund percentile rankings may differ from those provided directly by Morningstar™, Inc. Funds are ranked by total return performance against the Asset Class Category that is identified at the bottom of each section with the words Category Median following the Asset Class Category name. For more information on how many funds are in each Asset Class Category please refer to the Number of Funds In Category section below.

Section II: Fund Performance

The Lancaster County, Nebraska Employees Retirement Plan

Fund Performance as of June 30, 2020

The performance quoted represents past performance. The investment value and return will fluctuate so that an investment, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than original cost. Past performance does not guarantee future results. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance quoted. For performance data current to the most recent month end, please call 877-778-2100. These performance results represent the change in net asset value of an investment over a stated period, assuming the reinvestment of dividends and capital gain distributions. Past performance is not indicative of future performance and short periods of performance may be particularly unrepresentative of long-term performance.

<sup>1</sup> Fund Performance. The performance table provides fund performance information, and other relevant performance and supplementary information concerning the Fund and its manager. Three types of information are provided. "Fund" Performance represents the actual performance of the Fund for all periods since the inception date of the Fund. "Manager's Composite" represents the composite return of multiple portfolios advised by the current Manager having a similar investment style as this Fund. "Blended" represents a combination of the Actual Fund performance and the current Manager Composite performance. Actual Fund performance is used for periods after the Fund was managed by the current Manager. For periods before the current Manager's assumption of Fund management, the Manager Composite return is used. The inception date associated with this line is the inception date of the Manager Composite. "Since Inception" returns are only provided when the inception date is less than 10 years ago.

Fixed income investment (bond) funds are subject to interest rate risk; their value will decline as interest rates rise. Fund shares are not guaranteed by the U.S. Government. High yield "junk" bonds involve a greater risk of default of payment of principal and interest than higher-rated bonds. Also, these bonds tend to be less liquid than higher-rated securities. ALLOCATION - TARGET-DATE RETIREMENT INCOME
For Prudential Day One, the target-date is the approximate year when investors plan to retire and may begin withdrawing their money. The asset allocation of the target-date funds will become more conservative as the target-date approaches and for ten years after the target-date by lessening the equity exposure and increasing the exposure in fixed income investments. The principal value of an investment in a target-date fund is not guaranteed at any time, including the target-date. There is no guarantee that the fund will provide adequate retirement income. A target-date fund should not be selected solely based on age or retirement date. Before investing, participants should carefully consider the fund's investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses, as well as their age, anticipated retirement date, risk tolerance, other investments owned, and planned withdrawals. The stated asset allocation may be subject to change. It is possible to lose money in a target-date fund, including losses near and following retirement. These risks may be increased to the extent investors begin to make withdrawals from the fund significantly before the target date. Investments in the Funds are not deposits or obligations of any bank and are not insured or guaranteed by any governmental agency or instrumentality. For investors close to or in retirement, the fund's equity exposure may result in investment volatility that could reduce an investor's available retirement assets when they are needed. For investors farther from retirement, there is risk that a fund may invest too much in investments designed to ensure capital conservation and/or current income, which may prevent the investor from meeting his or her retirement goals.
For Retirement Goal, the target-date is the approximate year when investors plan to retire and may begin withdrawing their money. The asset allocation of the target-date funds will become more conservative as the target-date approaches and for five years after the target-date by lessening the equity exposure and increasing the exposure in fixed income type investments. The principal value of an investment in a target-date fund is not guaranteed at any time, including the target-date. There is no guarantee that the fund will provide adequate retirement income. ALLOCATION - TARGET-DATE 2020
For Prudential Day One, the target-date is the approximate year when investors plan to retire and may begin withdrawing their money. The asset allocation of the target-date funds will become more conservative as the target-date approaches and for ten years after the target-date by lessening the equity exposure and increasing the exposure in fixed income investments. The principal value of an investment in a target-date fund is not guaranteed at any time, including the target-date. There is no guarantee that the fund will provide adequate retirement income. A target-date fund should not be selected solely based on age or retirement date. Before investing, participants should carefully consider the fund's investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses, as well as their age, anticipated retirement date, risk tolerance, other investments owned, and planned withdrawals. The stated asset allocation may be subject to change. It is possible to lose money in a target-date fund, including losses near and following retirement. These risks may be increased to the extent investors begin to make withdrawals from the fund significantly before the target date. Investments in the Funds are not deposits or obligations of any bank and are not insured or guaranteed by any governmental agency or instrumentality. For investors close to or in retirement, the fund's equity exposure may result in investment volatility that could reduce an investor's available retirement assets when they are needed. For investors farther from retirement, there is risk that a fund may invest too much in investments designed to ensure capital conservation and/or current income, which may prevent the investor from meeting his or her retirement goals.
For Retirement Goal, the target-date is the approximate year when investors plan to retire and may begin withdrawing their money. The asset allocation of the target-date funds will become more conservative as the target-date approaches and for five years after the target-date by lessening the equity exposure and increasing the exposure in fixed income type investments. The principal value of an investment in a target-date fund is not guaranteed at any time, including the target-date. There is no guarantee that the fund will provide adequate retirement income. ALLOCATION - TARGET-DATE 2035 (WITH INCOME GUARANTEE)
For Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target, the target-date is the approximate year when investors plan to retire and may begin withdrawing their money. The asset allocation of the target-date funds will become more conservative until the date which is ten years prior to the target-date by lessening the equity exposure and increasing the exposure in fixed income investments. The principal value of an investment in a target-date fund is not guaranteed at any time, including the target-date. There is no guarantee that the fund will provide adequate retirement income. A target-date fund should not be selected solely based on age or retirement date. Before investing, participants should carefully consider the fund's investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses, as well as their age, anticipated retirement date, risk tolerance, other investments owned, and planned withdrawals. The stated asset allocation may be subject to change. It is possible to lose money in a target-date fund, including losses near and following retirement. These risks may be increased to the extent investors begin to make withdrawals from the fund significantly before the target date. Investments in the Funds are not deposits or obligations of any bank and are not insured or guaranteed by any governmental agency or instrumentality. For investors close to or in retirement, the fund's equity exposure may result in investment volatility that could reduce an investor's available retirement assets when they are needed. For investors farther from retirement, there is risk that a fund may invest too much in investments designed to ensure capital conservation and/or current income, which may prevent the investor from meeting his or her retirement goals.

ALLOCATION - TARGET-DATE 2055 (WITH INCOME GUARANTEE)
For Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target, the target-date is the approximate year when investors plan to retire and may begin withdrawing their money. The asset allocation of the target-date funds will become more conservative until the date which is ten years prior to the target-date by lessening the equity exposure and increasing the exposure in fixed income investments. The principal value of an investment in a target-date fund is not guaranteed at any time, including the target-date. There is no guarantee that the fund will provide adequate retirement income. A target-date fund should not be selected solely based on age or retirement date. Before investing, participants should carefully consider the fund's investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses, as well as their age, anticipated retirement date, risk tolerance, other investments owned, and planned withdrawals. The stated asset allocation may be subject to change. It is possible to lose money in a target-date fund, including losses near and following retirement. These risks may be increased to the extent investors begin to make withdrawals from the fund significantly before the target date. Investments in the Funds are not deposits or obligations of any bank and are not insured or guaranteed by any governmental agency or instrumentality. For investors close to or in retirement, the fund's equity exposure may result in investment volatility that could reduce an investor's available retirement assets when they are needed. For investors farther from retirement, there is risk that a fund may invest too much in investments designed to ensure capital conservation and/or current income, which may prevent the investor from meeting his or her retirement goals.

Fund Performance as of June 30, 2020

The performance quoted represents past performance. The investment value and return will fluctuate so that an investment, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than original cost. Past performance does not guarantee future results. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance quoted. For performance data current to the most recent month end, please call 877-778-2100. These performance results represent the change in net asset value of an investment over a stated period, assuming the reinvestment of dividends and capital gain distributions. Past performance is not indicative of future performance and short periods of performance may be particularly unrepresentative of long-term performance.

<sup>1</sup> Fund Performance. The performance table provides fund performance information, and other relevant performance and supplementary information concerning the Fund and its manager. Three types of information are provided. "Fund" Performance represents the actual performance of the Fund for all periods since the inception date of the Fund. "Manager's Composite" represents the composite return of multiple portfolios advised by the current Manager having a similar investment style as this Fund. "Blended" represents a combination of the Actual Fund performance and the current Manager Composite performance. Actual Fund performance is used for periods after the Fund was managed by the current Manager. For periods before the current Manager's assumption of Fund management, the Manager Composite return is used. The inception date associated with this line is the inception date of the Manager Composite. "Since Inception" returns are only provided when the inception date is less than 10 years ago.

In providing this information Prudential Retirement is not undertaking to provide impartial investment advice, or to give advice in a fiduciary capacity.

INTERNATIONAL - EMERGING MARKET
Investing in emerging markets is generally riskier than investing in foreign securities. Emerging market countries may have unstable governments and/or economies that are subject to sudden change. These changes may be magnified by the countries' emergent financial markets, resulting in significant volatility to investments in these countries. These countries may also lack the legal, business and social framework to support securities markets.

SECTOR - DOMESTIC REAL ESTATE
Sector funds are subject to risks within their specific sectors because they concentrate their investments in securities of companies within certain industries. Therefore, the price of these securities can be volatile.
The real estate industry is greatly affected by economic downturns that may persist as well as changes in property values, interest rates, taxes, environmental issues and regulatory developments.

ALTERNATIVE - COMMODITIES BROAD BASKET
All investing involves risk. Alternative investments, such as commodities, derivatives, multicurrency, market neutral, and other strategies involve unique risks and may cause these investments to react differently to market conditions than traditional investments. These alternative investments may be speculative and more volatile than investments in more traditional equity and debt securities.
Short selling carries the additional risk that the portfolio will incur a loss by subsequently buying a security at a higher price than the price at which it sold the security short. The amount of such loss from short selling is theoretically unlimited.

Disclosures

2 With the exception of Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2065 Fund, the Funds commenced operations on June 30, 2009, which is the date that (1) the Funds began operations in accordance with the allocations dictated by the Funds' Glidepath, and (2) PRIAC began calculating daily unit values for the Funds. With respect to the Day One IncomeFlex Target 2065 Fund, the Fund was opened to new investment on December 16, 2019 and commenced operations on January 3, 2020.

Although the Funds commenced operations on June 30, 2009, the Funds did not receive initial funding from investor plans until the applicable Funding Dates: for the Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2015 Fund: Dec. 10, 2010; for the Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2010 Fund, Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2035 Fund, Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2040 Fund, Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2045 Fund and the Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2050 Fund: Dec. 21, 2010; for the Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2020 Fund, Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2025 Fund, and Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2030 Fund: Jul. 19, 2010; for the Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2060 Fund: Jan. 7, 2011; Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2055 Fund: Jan. 11, 2011; Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target Balance Fund: Sept. 22, 2009; and for the Prudential Day One IncomeFlex Target 2065 Fund: Jan 3, 2020. Prior to the applicable Funding Date, PRIAC calculated daily unit values based on the performance of the Underlying Funds in the fund-of-funds structure, weighted in accordance with the asset allocation of each Underlying Fund as specified by the Fund's Glidepath.

The current rebalancing frequency is a combination of monthly and tolerance-based rebalancing ("Monthly/Tolerance Based Rebalancing"). At every month end, each Fund will automatically rebalance to its target allocations (as then in effect) with respect to the underlying funds in which the Fund is invested (the "Underlying Funds," or each an "Underlying Fund"). In addition, each Fund will be evaluated daily with respect to its target allocations to the Underlying Funds. If market movements cause any Underlying Fund to deviate more than 5% relative to the target allocation to such Underlying Fund, there will be an automatic rebalancing of that Underlying Fund and any such other Underlying Funds as may be necessary to return all Underlying Funds to their respective target allocations as then in effect.

The performance track record reflects annual ratcheting along the Fund's Glidepath as well as daily rebalancing prior to January 2, 2015 and Monthly / Tolerance Based Rebalancing effective January 2, 2015. The performance track record for each Fund also reflects the applicable management fee listed above and the other expenses of the Fund actually incurred (which vary from year to year). Unlike the results shown in the performance record beginning with a Fund's Funding Date, performance prior to the Funding Date does not represent actual investment by the Fund in the Underlying Funds. If the Fund had actually invested in the Underlying Fund prior to the applicable Funding Date, it is possible that the performance of the Underlying Funds could have been different and the expenses of the Fund could have been different, each of which could have affected performance of the Fund.

Please note that the performance information reflects changes made to the Underlying Funds as of the date the Funds made the change. The following changes are reflected in the performance track record of each Fund (as applicable): • On September 22, 2010, the QMA Small Cap Blend Enhanced Index Fund sleeve was replaced with the Jennison Small Cap Core Equity Fund. • On December 7, 2011, the Bache Commodities Total Return Fund sleeve was replaced with the Jefferies Commodity Strategies Fund. Subsequently on April 16, 2012, the Jefferies Commodity Strategies Fund changed its name to the CoreCommodity Strategies Fund. • On January 4, 2016, the Prudential Total Return Bond Fund was added as a new Underlying Fund. • On March 29, 2018 QMA replaced CoreCommodity Management, LLC as the investment manager of the corresponding Underlying Fund which was renamed as QMA Commodity Strategy Fund.

3 Performance displayed for periods beginning earlier than the "Inception Date" is based on the historical returns of the oldest share class of the fund, adjusted to reflect the fees and expenses of this share class. "Since Inception" performance when shown is based on the actual performance of this share class.

4 For Manager of Managers Institutional Sub-Advised funds and Institutional Select Funds: Actual performance may be affected by the manager not being able to invest directly in a country prior to satisfaction of that country's legal requirements.

Our pricing for your plan sometimes includes contract charges. If included, the contract charges would reduce the performance shown within this report. Any contract charges are disclosed to you. Regarding your members, the expense ratio shown in their statements and in the performance shown on their statements will reflect any contract charges imposed. The management fees, fund fees and contract charges compensate us for the distribution and servicing associated with your plan. Other plan investment options may generate more or less revenue for us than the fees associated with the fund you select. If the aggregate revenue from your plan exceeds our associated costs, we earn a profit. Otherwise, we incur a loss. Other plans investing in the Fund may have lower fees, but these are not available to your plan in order to compensate us for distribution and plan servicing.

All investing involves risk and there is no guarantee the Fund's objective will be achieved. An investment in a fund of funds is subject to the risks of the investments of each underlying fund, which include: With respect to investment in equities, stock prices are more volatile than bond prices over the long term, and the value of such investment will fluctuate with changes in market conditions. Small- and mid-cap investments may be more volatile than large-cap investments, and investments in non-U.S. markets may be more volatile than domestic investments due to currency fluctuation and political uncertainty. Investments in emerging markets are subject to greater volatility and price declines. Fixed-income investments may fluctuate based on interest rate changes and are subject to the risk that the company may not be able to make timely payments of principal and interest.

Keep in mind that application of asset allocation and diversification concepts does not assure a profit or protect against loss in a declining market. It is possible to lose money by investing in securities.

Non Proprietary Retail Funds. A non-proprietary Retail Fund refers to a mutual fund offered by Prudential Retirement, other than Jennison Dryden funds (which are sponsored by affiliates of Prudential Retirement). These Retail Funds are registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission. The fund complex establishing the mutual funds charges investment fees and service fees. These fees, expressed as a percentage, represent the "expense ratio" for the fund's shares because they are deducted from the gross returns of the shares. The fund complex often agrees to pay Prudential Retirement sub-accounting fees in return for the services provided to the plans as well as distribution fees in return for the distribution of the fund's shares to the plans. While these fees do not add to the "expense ratio" for the fund's shares, they in effect represent the portion of the expense ratio that is paid to Prudential Retirement. These sub-accounting and distribution fees enable Prudential to pay for the recordkeeping and distribution costs associated with a plan. Fund complexes not paying such fees to Prudential Retirement (or fund complexes only willing to pay a lesser amount of such fees) are not part of the standard offering of funds by Prudential Retirement. Similarly, some share classes paying a lesser amount of such fees to Prudential Retirement are not part of the standard investment offering. In both cases, this is because Prudential Retirement requires such fees as compensation for the cost of plan recordkeeping and product distribution. Such funds are available on an exception basis, and may require that Prudential Retirement charge additional fees to the plan sponsor or the participant accounts. Proprietary Retail Funds and Alliance Funds: "Proprietary" Retail Funds refers to mutual funds sponsored by Prudential affiliates. Proprietary Retail Funds have either Jennison or Dryden as the sub-advisor to the fund. Proprietary Alliance Funds refers to Alliance Funds purchasing Jennison/Dryden mutual funds. Like other mutual fund complexes, Jennison/Dryden pays sub-accounting and distribution fees to Prudential Retirement. Unlike non-proprietary Retail Funds and Alliance Funds, affiliates of Prudential Retirement receive the portion of the expense ratio for such products that are not paid to Prudential Retirement in the form of sub-accounting and distribution fees.

Therefore, investors are generally not entitled to the protections of the federal securities laws. Also, unlike mutual funds and registered separate accounts, unregistered insurance company separate accounts and collective investment trusts are not offered by prospectus.

Data Point Terms

Alpha - A measure of performance on a risk-adjusted basis. Alpha, often considered the active return on an investment, gauges the performance of an investment against a market index used as a benchmark, since they are often considered to represent the market's movement as a whole. The excess returns of a fund relative to the return of a benchmark index is the fund's alpha.

DDA Rank - The DDA Rank represents the quartile ranking assigned to the fund in the latest Due Diligence Advisor Program Report. Each separate account is assessed on the basis of nominal and risk adjusted returns, and downside and relative risk (versus an appropriate benchmark). These metrics are weighted based on 1-, 3- and 5-year results, with greatest emphasis placed on long term timeframes. Due Diligence Quartile Ranks shown are based on the last available Due Diligence Analysis, among the following peer group universe totals.

Gross Expense Ratio - The Total Gross Expense Ratio represents the percentage of fund assets paid for operating expenses and management fees. It typically includes the following types of fees: accounting, administrator, advisor, auditor, board of directors, custodial, distribution (12b-1), legal, organizational, professional, registration, shareholder reporting, sub-advisor, and transfer agency. The expense ratio does not reflect the fund's brokerage costs, fee waivers, or investor sales charges.

Net Expense Ratio - The Total Net Expense Ratio represents fee charged against fund assets after adjustment for fee waivers.

Risk - Also known as Standard deviation, Risk is a statistical measure of the degree of variability, or dispersion, of a portfolio's return around its average return over a specified time period. Investors can examine historical standard deviation in conjunction with historical returns in order to decide whether a portfolio's volatility would have been acceptable given the returns it produced. A higher standard deviation indicates a wider dispersion of past returns and thus greater risk. Standard deviation does not indicate how a portfolio actually performed, but merely the volatility of its returns over time around their mean.

Sharpe Ratio - The Sharpe ratio was developed by Nobel laureate William F. Sharpe and is used to help investors understand the return of an investment compared to its risk. The ratio is the average return earned in excess of the risk-free rate per unit of volatility or total risk. Subtracting the risk-free rate from the mean return allows an investor to better isolate the profits associated with risk-taking activities. Generally, the greater the value of the Sharpe ratio, the more attractive the risk-adjusted return.

The historical performance shown represents the change in net asset value of an investment over a stated period assuming the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions. If the sales charges were reflected, performance may be lower. This is the performance that best reflects your investment experience as sales charges do not apply to your plan. At times, certain mutual fund's performance may be extraordinarily high due to investing in sectors that achieved unprecedented returns. There can be no assurance that this performance can be repeated in the future.
